

Food For Thought 2

The corporate UNITED STATES was created to facilitate the receivership and had a term life of 75 years. It was the private property of the American people that has been placed at risk as collateral to fund the operation of the UNITED STATES throughout the receivership.

Therefore, We the People of America are the original creditors having an absolute and priority right of redemption of the property. Even though the legal fiction remains insolvent, We the People of America have an absolute right to redeem the property; to redeem and remove our private property from their matrix back to private America!

The receivership, and the legal fiction corporation styled as the UNITED STATES have exceeded their term life. It is time to close the books and liquidate the legal fiction corporation for the remedy of the Creditors. That liquidation is currently underway, but, who is looking out for the American People in this liquidation? Who is protecting our private property and our right of redemption?

We the American People must stand up and demand our right to redeem the property before it is too late. We must stand up and demand the protection of our private property and our right of redemption.
